

November 1, 2022

Good morning! It's Zain from 731 and I'm here this Talk A lot Tuesday on behalf of the S.E.A.L Team.

Each of us views the world from a unique perspective. Autism affects how people perceive the world differently than the rest of us do. They frequently take original approaches to the world. On November 1, "Autistics Speaking Day" invites autistic people to share their experiences in any way that they feel works for them. However, what matters most is that they will be speaking for themselves. And this is the time for you to listen to, read, and comprehend their stories, as the more we learn, the more we advance as a society. Unity and equity depend on acceptance and understanding.

Susan Boyle, a well-known singer who has autism and won America's Got Talent, once said. "There are enough people in the world who are going to write you off. You don't need to do that to yourself." Never underestimate yourself; always be your own biggest cheerleader. Never allow anyone to diminish you because you are valuable.

That's all for today. Have a Trailblazing Tuesday 😊
